Dedicated to Mr. Keith Gray

In the few years that Keith Gray has taught at our school, he has touched the lives of all of his students. Mr. Gray is an inspirational teacher, coach, and friend, as well as a great father to his two children.

His words of wisdom and gruesome "stories" will carry on throughout our lives. We will always remember the constant question "Mr. Gray, can you do thermit today? Steve L'Abbe isn't here. Blow something up!" Usually our constant pestering worked and an explosion occurred. You can always tell when Mr. Gray is up to something because the hallway smells of sulfur or some other unknown odor.

The class of 1999, as well as the rest of the school, felt like a part of the Gray family when he and his wife went to India and endured the ordeal of adopting his two little girls.

This year, the class of 1999 would like to dedicate our yearbook to Keith Gray. We will always remember you and your words of wisdom.

Message to the Class of 1999

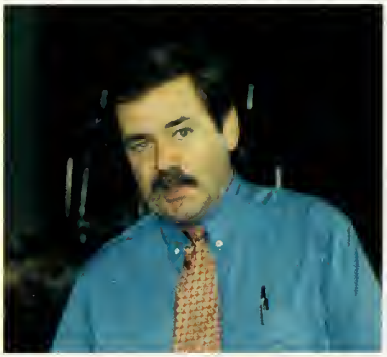
Although I write this letter on a cool afternoon in October, I hope you will be reading it on a beautiful, warm June day. I also write these words as I enter only my third year as your principal while most of you will be completing twelve years of schooling in Manchester.

I truly hope that although you are soon leaving MHS and beginning a new phase in your life, you will keep with you many positive thoughts about your high school career. In time that I have known you, I have been impressed with your many accomplishments. I trust this book will serve you and the whole community as a permanent reminder of these activities and all of your school activities. You should realize that a yearbook is really the only lasting record of what has happened in a school each year. It is also your own personal history book and should be something you will cherish and review for many years to come.

As principal, I also hope that the members of the faculty have left lasting and positive impressions upon you as you have matured. I believe the words of Henry Adams, who wrote, "A teacher affects eternity. He or she never knows where his or her influence ends." The class of 1999 makes history this year for being one of the largest classes in recent years. This reflects the changes that are happening in our school and in education in general. When you return to visit us in future years, I believe you will see even more changes. I hope that in your further education and careers, you are participants in making positive changes.

Read this book with pride, emotion, and fond memories. I look forward to reading it with you at graduation and re-reading it at your reunions.

Sincerely,
Henry Lukas, Principal



The Most Perfect Days

Fall of 1999 brings about the changes that will affect us for the rest of our lives. When we leave here we will choose our own paths, perhaps different from those of our high school days; our friendships will blossom into more than comradeship, and we will find out what these past four years here at Manchester have meant to us in more than academic terms. Perhaps during the passage of time and space between us, the realization that the lives we had here were so special and unique, perhaps only then will we realize a deeper meaning and the education that we have acquired here will carry us through more than one awkward moment or bring us out of our shell in a college lecture hall. It is strange to think that we have only passed four short years here, and yet it seemed as nothing less than an eternity to us. What we wish to take with us we cannot, and what we don't want to take with us often finds itself within the folds of our suitcases and trunks, strapped to cars, bounding towards new futures outside of this place. What is important is that we realize that what we carry with us involuntarily will serve us better in the end than frivolities in friendship or promises that cannot be kept without deceit. This book is meant to keep your memories fresh, your heart warm, and it is meant also to bring you back to those moments with the laughter, the tears, the heartache or the joy; the pictures and the handwriting scribbled on each page will perhaps envelope you in a past that you can never forget and will always remember as perhaps some of the most perfect days of your life.

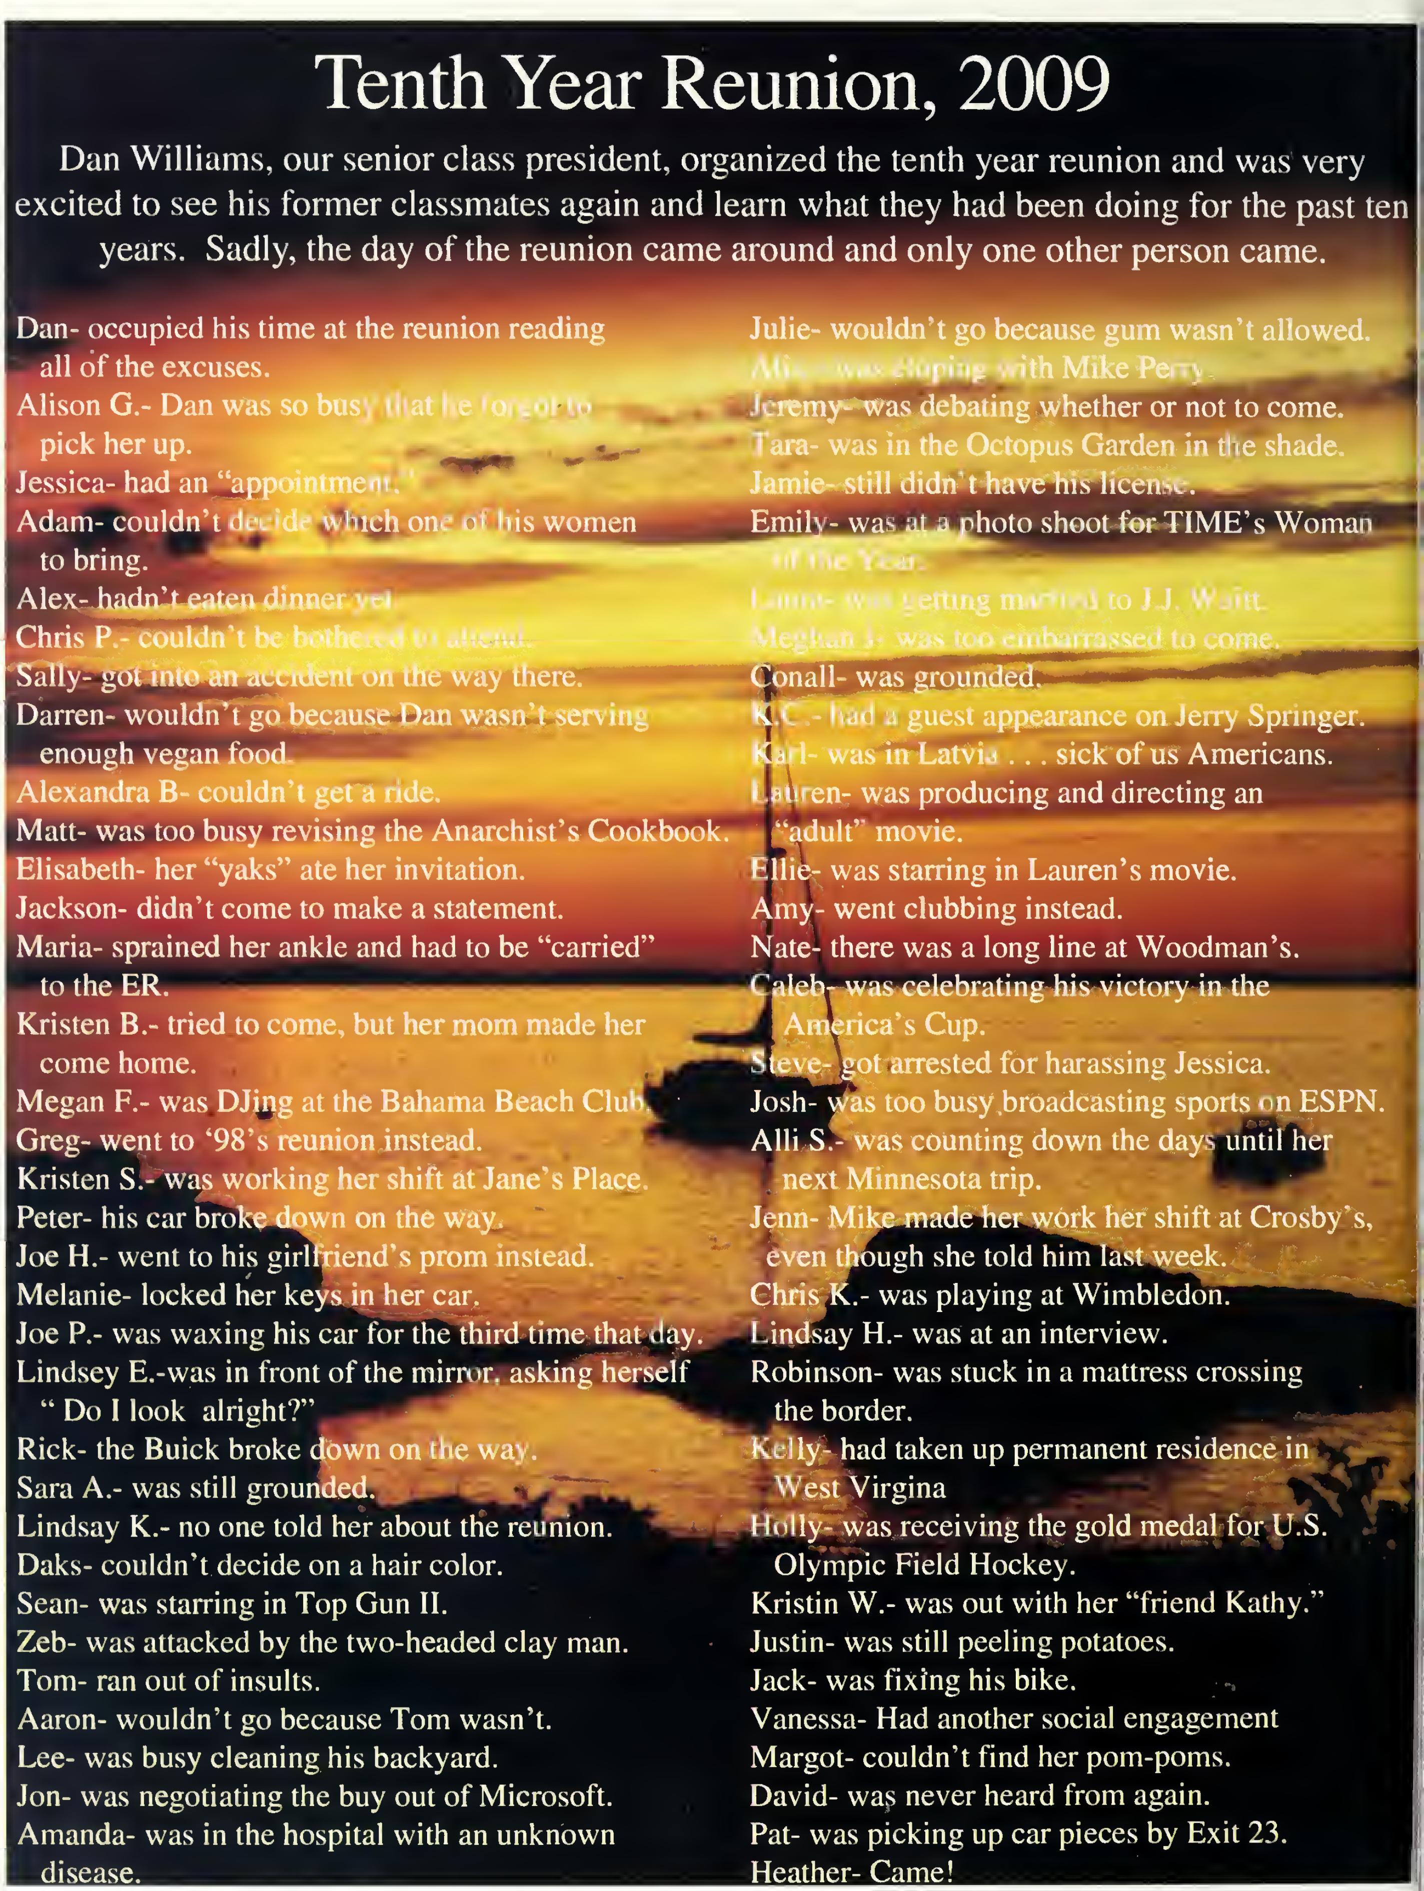
Tenth Year Reunion, 2009

Dan Williams, our senior class president, organized the tenth year reunion and was very excited to see his former classmates again and learn what they had been doing for the past ten years. Sadly, the day of the reunion came around and only one other person came.



Dan- occupied his time at the reunion reading all of the excuses.
Alison G.- Dan was so busy that he forgot to pick her up.
Jessica- had an "appointment."
Adam- couldn't decide which one of his women to bring.
Alex- hadn't eaten dinner yet.
Chris P.- couldn't be bothered to attend.
Sally- got into an accident on the way there.
Darren- wouldn't go because Dan wasn't serving enough vegan food.
Alexandra B- couldn't get a ride.
Matt- was too busy revising the Anarchist's Cookbook.
Elisabeth- her "yaks" ate her invitation.
Jackson- didn't come to make a statement.
Maria- sprained her ankle and had to be "carried" to the ER.
Kristen B.- tried to come, but her mom made her come home.
Megan F.- was DJing at the Bahama Beach Club.
Greg- went to '98's reunion instead.
Kristen S.- was working her shift at Jane's Place.
Peter- his car broke down on the way.
Joe H.- went to his girlfriend's prom instead.
Melanie- locked her keys in her car.
Joe P.- was waxing his car for the third time that day.
Lindsey E.-was in front of the mirror, asking herself " Do I look alright?"
Rick- the Buick broke down on the way.
Sara A.- was still grounded.
Lindsay K.- no one told her about the reunion.
Daks- couldn't decide on a hair color.
Sean- was starring in Top Gun II.
Zeb- was attacked by the two-headed clay man.
Tom- ran out of insults.
Aaron- wouldn't go because Tom wasn't.
Lee- was busy cleaning his backyard.
Jon- was negotiating the buy out of Microsoft.
Amanda- was in the hospital with an unknown disease.
Julie- wouldn't go because gum wasn't allowed.
Mia- was eloping with Mike Perry.
Jeremy- was debating whether or not to come.
Tara- was in the Octopus Garden in the shade.
Jamie- still didn't have his license.
Emily- was at a photo shoot for TIME's Woman of the Year.
Laura- was getting married to J.J. Waitt.
Meghan J.- was too embarrassed to come.
Conall- was grounded.
K.C.- had a guest appearance on Jerry Springer.
Karl- was in Latvia . . . sick of us Americans.
Lauren- was producing and directing an "adult" movie.
Ellie- was starring in Lauren's movie.
Amy- went clubbing instead.
Nate- there was a long line at Woodman's.
Caleb- was celebrating his victory in the America's Cup.
Steve- got arrested for harassing Jessica.
Josh- was too busy broadcasting sports on ESPN.
Alli S.- was counting down the days until her next Minnesota trip.
Jenn- Mike made her work her shift at Crosby's, even though she told him last week.
Chris K.- was playing at Wimbledon.
Lindsay H.- was at an interview.
Robinson- was stuck in a mattress crossing the border.
Kelly- had taken up permanent residence in West Virgina
Holly- was receiving the gold medal for U.S. Olympic Field Hockey.
Kristin W.- was out with her "friend Kathy."
Justin- was still peeling potatoes.
Jack- was fixing his bike.
Vanessa- Had another social engagement
Margot- couldn't find her pom-poms.
David- was never heard from again.
Pat- was picking up car pieces by Exit 23.
Heather- Came!

These are the days to remember...The wise cracks of Tom and Joe, "Maverick's" stride, Heffron's smile, Ted's stories, Caleb's style. Sally's down to earth and honest attitude adds a spark to each day. Alexandra an dour ability to connect; whose compassion and love etends to all she knows. Sara's grace, presence and devoted friendship will always be with me. Darren's unrelenting honesty has helped me through many a night. Alex, my college man and genuine friend. I cherish the memories we have. Conall, I'll have a place in my heart for you always. Remain the wonderful person you are. Mom and Dad, you are responsible for all of this; for who I am. Thank you for your undying love and support. Who knows where I would be without you. Paige you are a funny little spitfire and I will love to watch you grow. Kell, thanks for putting up with me. You are a great sister. I love you all very much. Vanessa, the greatest friend anyone could ask for. You passion for life, out hilarious times, and your sparkly eyes I will never forget. There were seventy-five people in the lobby and only a seven-year old girl was finding out what it felt like to sit on a marble floor.---Hugh Prather. Thank you Mom, Papa, Richard the Lionhearted, Robert the Good, and Andrew the Bulldozer, for showing the world to me through your eyes. Although I can never be "the baby who's diaper you changed" again, I will hold dear our memories. You all have put up with me for so long I cannot help but surrender for once by saying (now that I'm 18) that: I really don't know much. Particular places I'd like to remember: North Carolina, Nebraska, "4 U 2 P" in Michigan, San Francisco, and Seattle. Macrobiotic Principles: (1)Everything is the differentiated manifestation of one infinity. (2)Everything changes. (3)All antagonisms are complimentary. (4)Nothing is identical. (5)Whatas a front has a back. (6)The bigger the front, the bigger the back. (7)What begins, ends. God Bless.

Maria Le Rossow

"How can you see something that isn't there?" yawned the humbug, who wasn't fully awake yet. "sometimes it's much simpler than seeing things that are," he said. "For instance, if something is there, you can only see it with your eyes open,but if it isn't there, you can see it just as well with your eyes closed. That's why imaginary things are often easier to see than real ones." "Then where is reality?" barked Tock." "Right here," cried Alec, waiving his arms. "You're standing right in the middle of Main Street."... Much love to everyone I ever laughed with, you know who you are.... "The day."

In four years so much has changed, yet so many remain the same: the Sable and its magic shall never be forgotten, "Jesus" a masterpiece that few will ever understand, Hampshire and the ultimate hotel war (how will I ever forget Urry), Spanish class and all its wonderful memories, Debate and everything that went along with it. Dr. Stuart's English class, The Day, The Weekend, "boom Theory", my continuing skill to some how manage to make a fool out of myself, the paper ball fights in Western Civ, sleeping in Western Civ, "Buttalo Jobs", me friends (few people are as amazing and as brilliant as they are), the stick of beef and cheese on the bus ride to New York (I really appreciated that). Stein, Ghost, one friend's lost conception of reality ("Nothing Matters") and his eventual realization that he was wrong, the sprint from government center to the fleet (that was an amazing night), Presidential Classroom and that stupid "lucky" hat, acappella techno, the orange sweatsuit, the "drug dealer" jacket, that fateful night in Baltimore, an d shopping carts. I thank everyone in my life for giving me the necessary support to succeed during these past four years. Good luck class fo 1999!

When an attitude is so deeply ingrained in our thought that we take it as an unquestioned truth, a serious and consistent challenge to that attitude runs the risk of ridicule. It may be possible to shatter the complacency with which the attitude is held by a frontal attack.

Queen Ellen & King Trent

Lookin' "Phat" at the Spirit of Boston

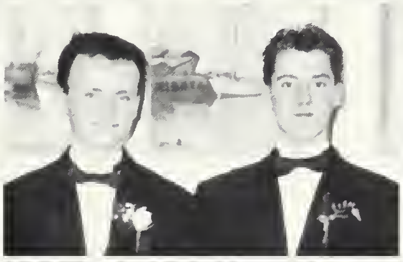
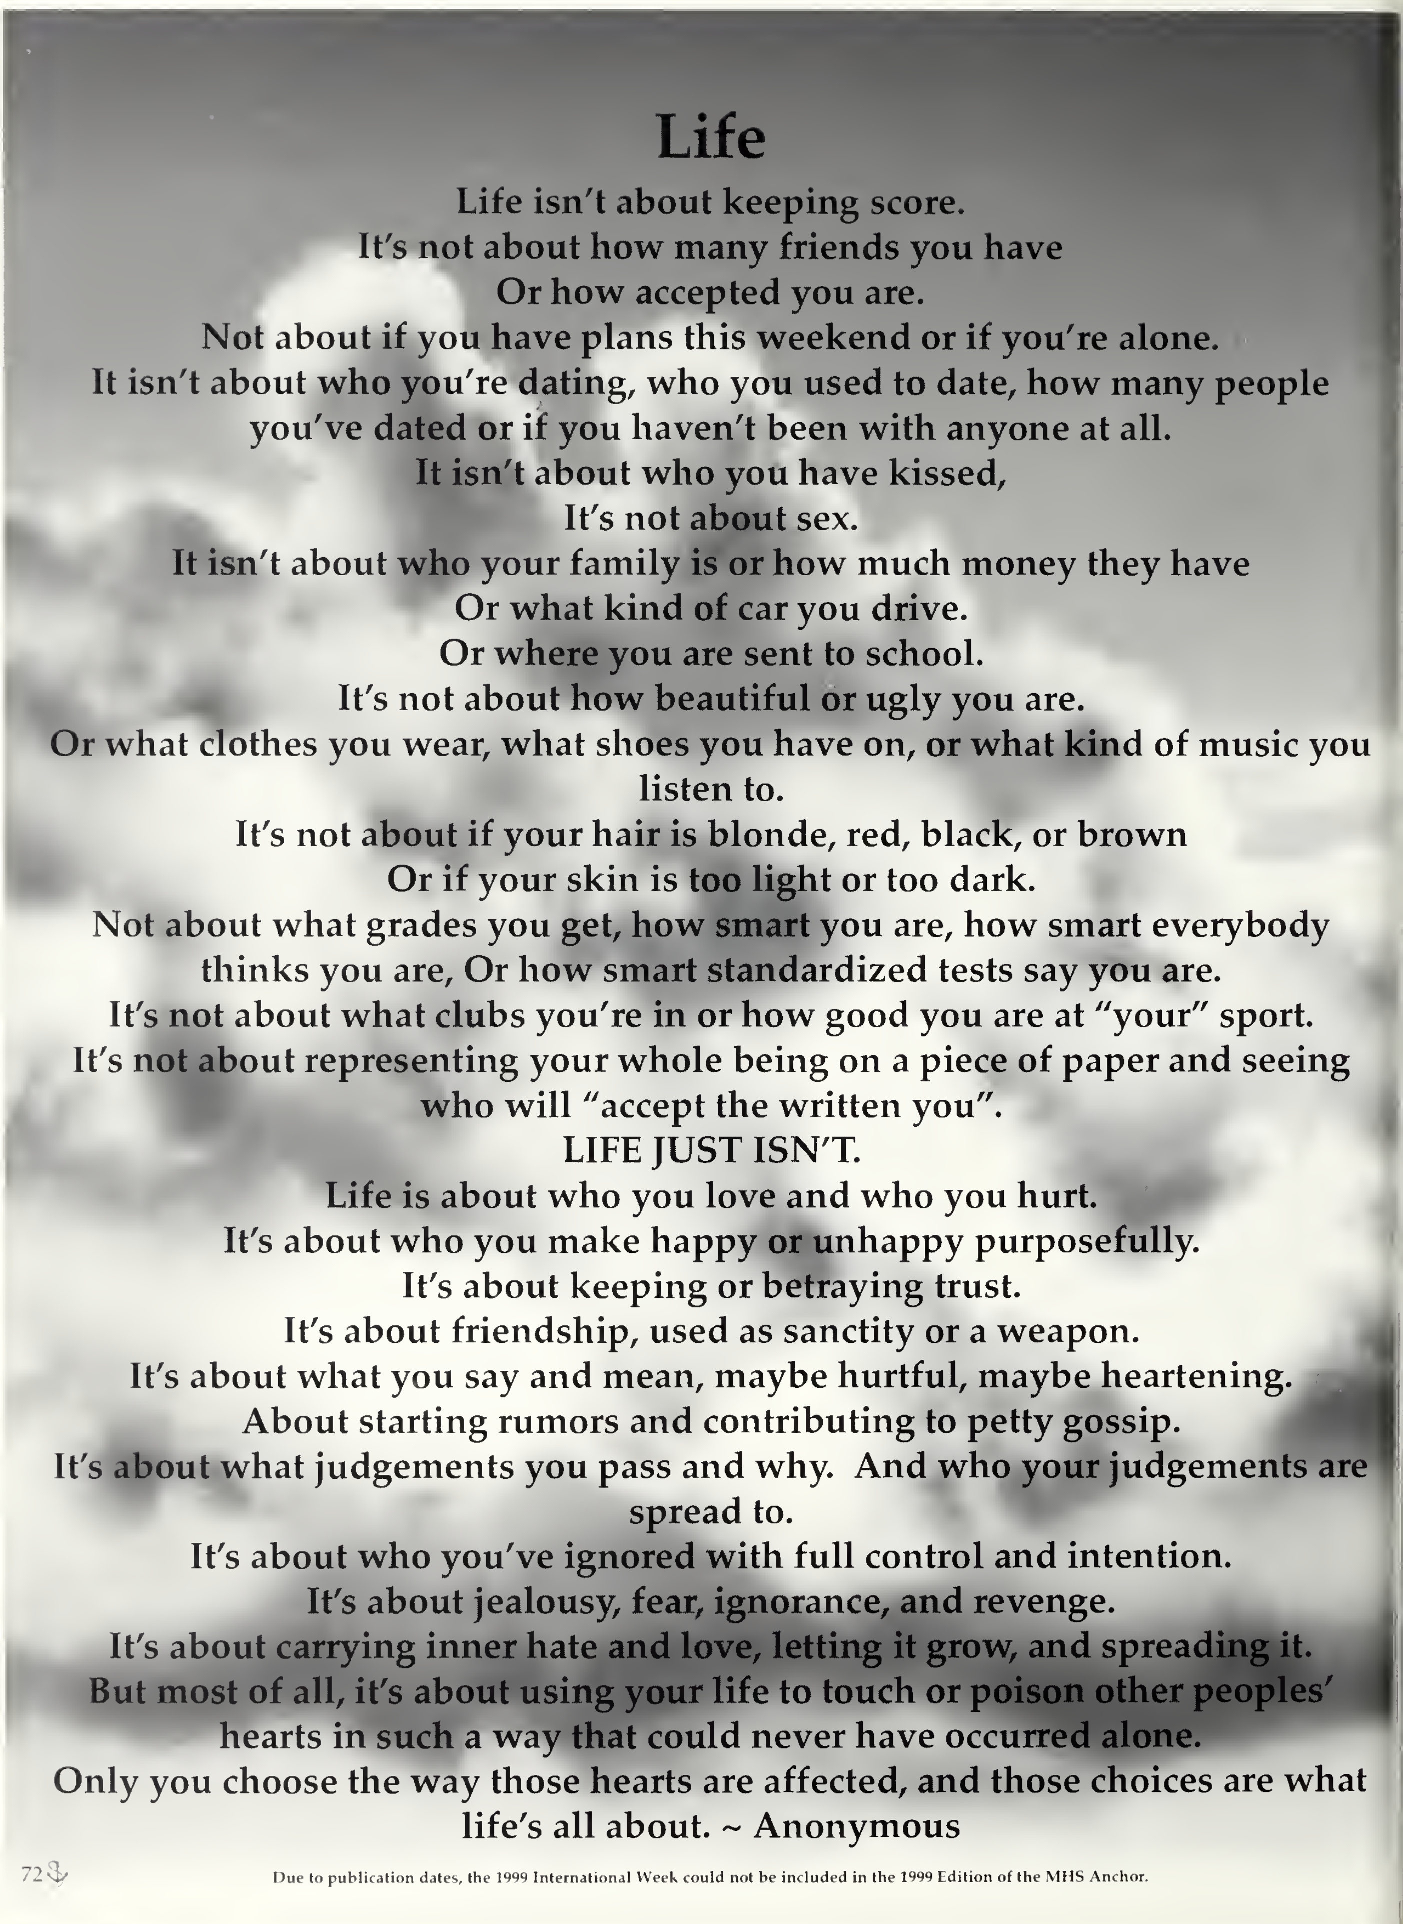
Why, darling! Isn't this a marvelous Prom?!



Just one more picture of the whole group and then we go, okay?



Life

Life isn't about keeping score.
It's not about how many friends you have
Or how accepted you are.
Not about if you have plans this weekend or if you're alone.
It isn't about who you're dating, who you used to date, how many people you've dated or if you haven't been with anyone at all.
It isn't about who you have kissed,
It's not about sex.
It isn't about who your family is or how much money they have
Or what kind of car you drive.
Or where you are sent to school.
It's not about how beautiful or ugly you are.
Or what clothes you wear, what shoes you have on, or what kind of music you listen to.
It's not about if your hair is blonde, red, black, or brown
Or if your skin is too light or too dark.
Not about what grades you get, how smart you are, how smart everybody thinks you are, Or how smart standardized tests say you are.
It's not about what clubs you're in or how good you are at "your" sport.
It's not about representing your whole being on a piece of paper and seeing who will "accept the written you".
LIFE JUST ISN'T.
Life is about who you love and who you hurt.
It's about who you make happy or unhappy purposefully.
It's about keeping or betraying trust.
It's about friendship, used as sanctity or a weapon.
It's about what you say and mean, maybe hurtful, maybe heartening.
About starting rumors and contributing to petty gossip.
It's about what judgements you pass and why. And who your judgements are spread to.
It's about who you've ignored with full control and intention.
It's about jealousy, fear, ignorance, and revenge.
It's about carrying inner hate and love, letting it grow, and spreading it.
But most of all, it's about using your life to touch or poison other peoples' hearts in such a way that could never have occurred alone.
Only you choose the way those hearts are affected, and those choices are what life's all about. ~ Anonymous

Children of the Eighties

We are the children of the Eighties. We are not the first "Lost" generation, not today's "Lost" generation; in fact, we think we know just where we stand - or are discovering it as we speak. WE are the ones who played with Lego Building Blocks when they were just building blocks and gave Malibu Barbie haircuts with safety scissors that never eally cut. WE collected Garbage Pail Kids and My Little Ponies and Hot Wheels and He-Man action figures and though She-Ra would look just a little bit like I would when I became a woman. Big Wheels and bicycles with streamers were the way to go, and sidewalk chalk was all you needed to build a city. Imagination was the key. It made an Ewok Treehouse big enough for you to be Luke and the kitchen table and an old sheet dark enough to be a tent in the forest. Your world was the backyard and it was all you needed. With your pink portable tape player, Debbie Gibson sang backup to you and everyone wanted a shirt like the Material Girl and a glove like Micheal Jackson's. Today, we are the ones who sing along with Bruce Springsteen and the Bangles perfectly and have no idea why. We recite lines with the Ghostbusters and still look to the Goonies for a great adventure. We flip through TV stations and stop at the A Team and Knight Rider and Fame and still laugh with The Cosby Show and Family Ties and what you talkin' bout Willis? We hold strong affections for the Muppets and The Gummy Bears and why did they take the Smurfs off the air? After school specials were only about cigarettes and step families. The Polka Dot Door was nothing like Barney, and aren't Power Rangers just Voltron reincarnated? We are the ones who still read Nancy Drew and The Hardy Boys, The Bobbsey Twins, Beverly Cleary, Judy Blume, Richard Scarry, and The Electric Company. Friendship bracelets were the ties you couldn't break and friendship pins went on shoes - preferably hightop Velcro Reeboks - and pegged jeans were in, as were Unit belts and layered socks and jean jackets and Jams and charm bracelets and side ponytails and tails. Rave was a girl's best friend; braces with colored rubber bands made you cool. The backdoor was always open and Mom served only red Kool-Aid to the neighborhood kids - never drank New Coke. Entertainment was cheap and lasted hours. All you needed to be a princess was high heels and an apron; the Sit'n'Spin always made you dizzy but never made you stop; Pogoballs were dangerous weapons and Chinese ump Ropes never failed to trip someone. In your Underoos you were Wonder Woman or Spiderman or R2D2 and in your treehouse you were a king. In the Eighties nothing was wrong. Did you know the President was shot? Star Wars was not only a movie? Did you ever play in a bomb shelter? Did you see the Challenger explode or feed a homeless man? We forgot Vietnam and watched Tiananman Square on CNN and bought pieces of the Berlin Wall at the store. AIDS was not the number one killer in the United States. We didn't start the fire, Billy Joel. In the Eighties, we redefined the American Dream, nd those years defined us. We are the generation in between strife and facing strife and not turning our backs. The Eighties may have made us idealistic, but it's idealism that will push us and be passed on to our children - the first children of the twenty-first century. Never forget: we are the children of the Eighties. If this is familiar, you are one of us...pass it on to all the others.

It seems like only yesterday...

Now look at you today...

Can't wait to see your tomorrows...

Sara,
Hope you are as proud of your accomplishments as we are.
Congradulations!
Love, Dad, Mom, & Grant

Holly,
I think you began as a smiling zygote, and when you were born something very special happened. I was no longer in labor!

Holly, you are a young courageous woman who is destined to create new paths and to inspire others. You give us the best of human nature. You make me smile. I□m a very lucky mom.

Love, Mom.

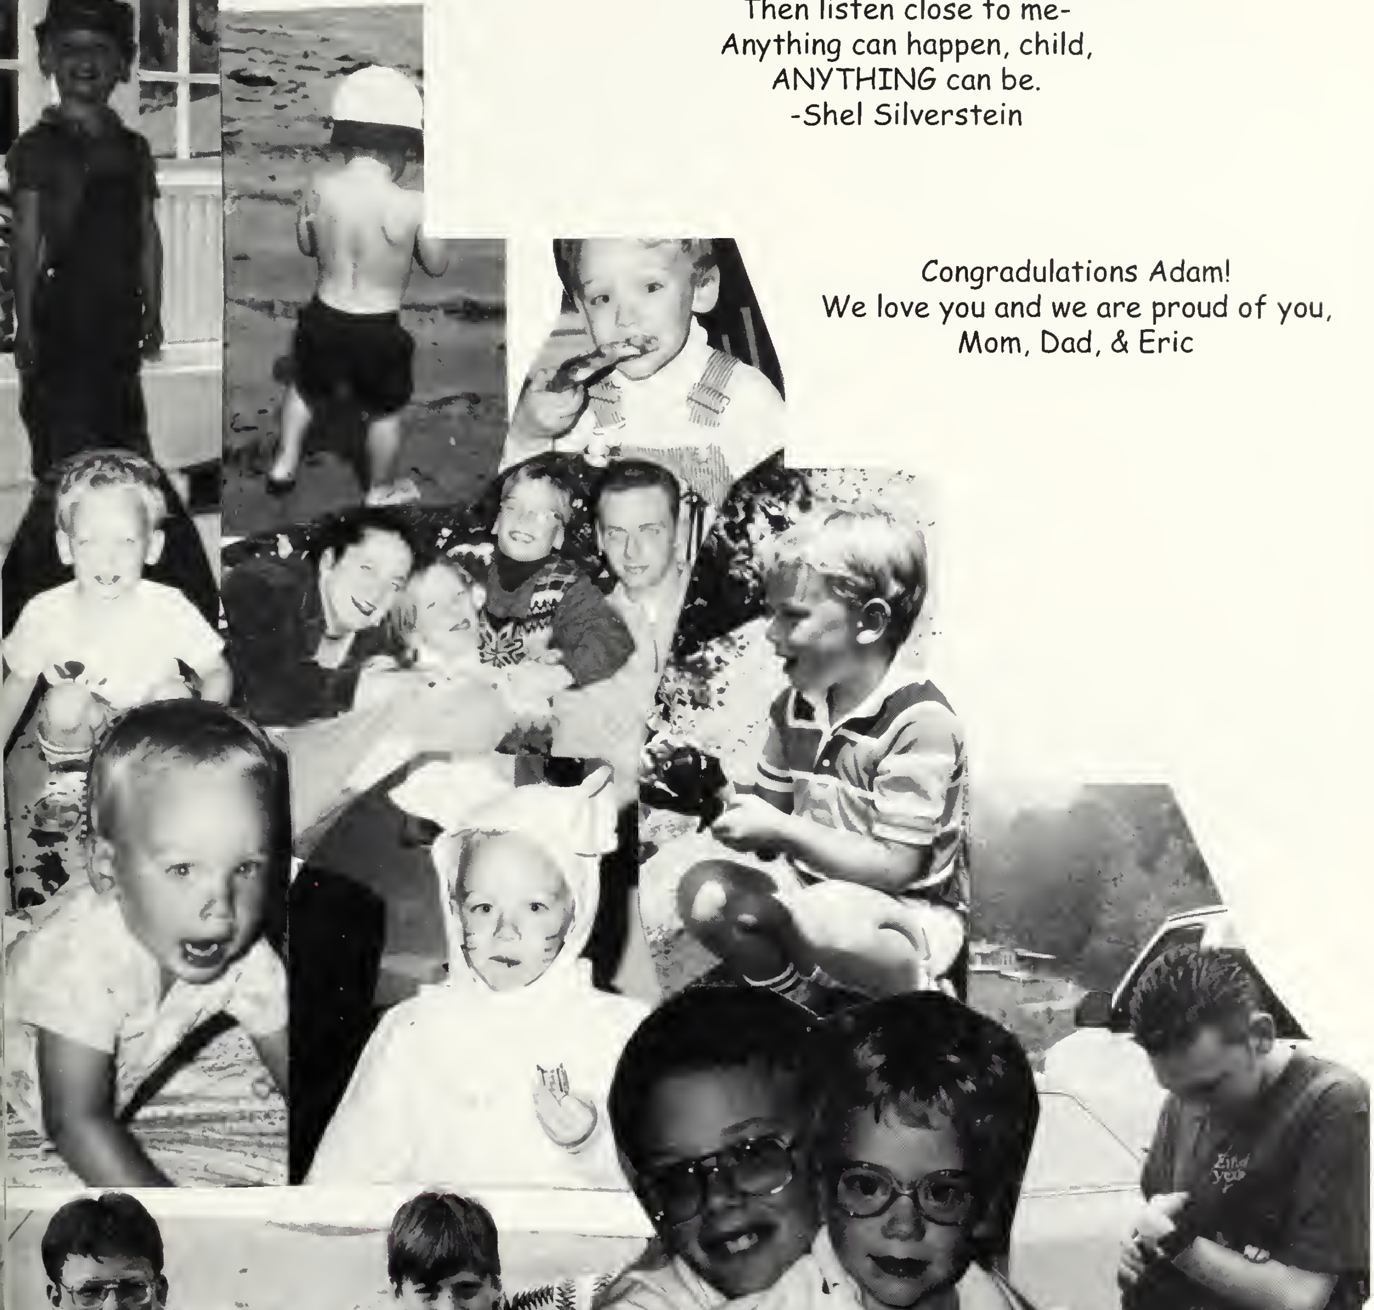
Holly,
We are very proud of you and are blessed to have you in our lives.

Love, Dad & Gram

LISTEN TO THE MUSTN'TS

Listen to the MUSTN'TS, child,
Listen to the DON'TS,
Listen to the SHOULDN'TS
the IMPOSSIBLES, the WONT'S
Listen to the NEVER HAVES
Then listen close to me-
Anything can happen, child,
ANYTHING can be.
-Shel Silverstein

Congradulations Adam!
We love you and we are proud of you,
Mom, Dad, & Eric



Alli,

We are so proud of you and what you have accomplished. With your spirit, beauty, intelligence, and determination, the future is yours. Never give up your dreams.

Congratulations!
Love,
Mom, Dad, & John

Laura,
The clouds parted on the day you were born, and the sun hasn't stopped shining yet.
Our love always,
Mom & Dad

Darren,

We love who you were

We love how you are

and

We love who you are becoming

"KEEP SMILING........."

It is not the critic that counts;
not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled,
or where the doer of deeds
could have done better.
The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena;
whose face is marred by dust
and sweat and blood;
who strives valiantly;
who errs and comes short again
and again;
who knows the great enthusiasms,
the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause;
who at best knows the triumph
of high acheivement;
and who at the worst, if he fails,
at least fails while daring greatly;
so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.
Theodore Roosevelt

ALWAYS KEEP YOUR SENSE OF HUMOR

Alex,

Some of your talents have been God given,
some you have worked hard to attain.
You succeed because you are never afraid to try.
You have the ability, ambition and enthusiasm to meet lifes challenges…
The Best is yet to Come.
Take all of our pride, love and support with you on your journey.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Kelley

Congrats Liz- Times were tough, but with lots of hard work and love you made it. We'll always be there for you and love you forever. Good luck, I know you'll succeed in everything! I have great faith in your abilities! Enjoy life! Love, Mom and Chip

Kristen,

Dear Son,

You can be anything you want to be. Your intelligence, humor, and strength will take you there.

Whatever you choose for yourself and wherever you go, remember that we will always love you.

-Mom and Dad-

Congratulations Lindsey! You have been our dream come true. Now may all your dreams be fulfilled. We love you, Mom, Dad, and Ali

Grandmother's Sampler

EVE MERRIAM

Take this much from me, dear insular young:
be ample, make a sampler of all.
Don't set yourself up a neat little suburban row.

Rise tall into a city,
spread wide the sea,
knock down walls, go deep;
rip all floorboards, raise all rooftops
so you can taste and smell the stars.

Whatever is only bakes out lonely.
You need the yeast of sharing, pinch of saltsavorall.

It takes two to make a yes;
yell for all yea-ers against the pawing naysayers,
the sparers, the skinny paring peelers.
Make your work chewy and your leisure meaty and rich.

Dust when you must, but dancing's more decent.

Don't is the meanest of four-letter words.

Grace yourself: wear new moons and shadows striping lemon sunlight.

Spice be your memories, your dreams,
but none more cinnamon than springing awake now, today, whenever and wherever it is,
this very minute.

Now go, fleet it into life and don't wait up for me.

As you gaze out towards the horizon and ponder your future, try to remember that life is sometimes as complex as our ever-changing New England weather.

There will be strormy days, and there will also be many days of clear sailing ahead.

There are no guarantees in life. Life is what you make of it. During these past eighteen years your mother and I have attempted our very best to offer you guidance and the benefit of our many learning experiences along the way.

MacDougall

And now it's time for you to venture out on your own -- to choose your own path. We believe that you have the determination and will to be successful at whatever you choose to do in life.

Trust in your God -- He is the guardian of your destiny.

Diversity is good -- but know who you are and where you came from. One's heritage is very important. Your Scottish roots are abundant.

Your mother and I love you very much. Congratulations and good luck always.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Carrie, and Courtney

To Mommy

I know that this yearbook was probably not dedicated to you so I wanted to include my own dedication to you. Mommy, I want to tell you how proud I am to have the distinction of having you for a mother. It's not everyone who can have Julie say to someone, "Do you know Mrs. Jerome?" have the person squirm, and then say, "Yeah ..in high school. She was.. interesting?" and then of course Julie says, "Wow! Did you know that this is her daughter?!" pointing at me, grinning. Who else has the distinction of being "Mrs. Jerome's daughter": there was a point when I thought that that was my name and that my alias was supposed to be "Annie Pie Junior" thanks to Mr. Nalley. Who else ever got the privilege to receive an ornament from Dr. Stuart on the occasion of her birth? Or was able to develop a school and home relationship with their mother? That's what makes you so special.

Mummy, I am so proud of how much you have grown inside. I think that you have become a better mum and a more beautiful person than ever before. You are the most beautiful person that I know because you are selfless, intelligent, sensitive, and of course you're my mother. Sometimes I wonder how you ever managed to keep your head on straight with me tearing around here these last few years of high school: dying my hair black, getting my eye poked in art class, cruising with Julie, dragging you into the art room to see my latest creation, complaining about this that and the next thing, etc. I also wonder how you remain so together and so firm in your faith and beliefs. I also wonder how you remained so calm when I was suffering with my year of trauma and my year of disease.

Mummy, I am truly blessed to have been given to you. I think I must have done super well in school in heaven to have been deemed worthy enough to be given to you and Daddy; if not that, I sure must've done a lot of extra credit work with God. It's taken me a long time to finally accept myself, my family, and who you are. You are my blessing mummy and I never want to lose you. I am so proud of you these past two years being strong and never letting anyone get on your nerves or upset you too much. Thank you mummy! ¡TE AMO!

Lots of Love,

Alexandra

To Mommy

I know that this yearbook was probably not dedicated to you, but I wanted to include my own dedication to you. Mommy, I want to tell you how proud I am to have the distinction of having you for a mother. [illegible] Mrs. Jerome?" have the person squirm, and then say "Yeah, in high school. She was interesting?" and then of course, she says "Wow. Did you know that this is her daughter?" pointing at me, grinning. Who else has the distinction of being Mrs. Jerome's daughter? There was a point when I thought that that was my name and that my alias was [illegible] Annie [illegible]. Who else ever got the privilege to receive an ornament from Dr. Stuart on the occasion of her birth? Or was able to develop a school and home relationship with her mother? It's what makes you so special.

Mummy, I am so proud of how much you have grown inside. I think that you have become a better mum and a more beautiful person than ever before. You are the most beautiful person that I know because you are selfless, intelligent, sensitive, and of course you're my mother. Sometimes I wonder how you ever managed to keep your head on straight with me coming around here these last few years of high school, dying my hair black, getting my eye poked in art class, cruising with [illegible], dragging you into the art room to see my latest creation, complaining about this that and every other thing, etc. I also wonder how you remain so together and so firm in your faith and beliefs. I also wonder how you remained so calm when I was suffering with my [illegible] trauma and my [illegible] disease.

Mummy, I am truly blessed to have been given to you. I think I must have done super well in school in heaven to have been deemed worthy enough to be given to you and Daddy. I think that [illegible] must've done a lot of extra credit work with God. It's taken me a long time to finally accept myself, my family, and who you are. You are my blessing, mummy, and I never want to lose you. I am so proud of you these past two years being strong and never letting anyone get on your nerves or upset you too much. Thank you, mummy. TE AMO!

Lots of love

The Patio is a friendly neighborhood restaurant offering a varied menu at affordable prices. Lunches served Monday through Friday start at $3.95. Dinners served seven nights weekly starting at $8.95. Diners may choose from two distinctly different decors. One dining area is English pub-like, with a bar and T. V. for sports events. The other is a light and airy room with a large bay window, fountain and plants. This area has been enlarged and redecorated. It will comfortably accommodate small groups for any special occasion.
